The role of IMA

IMA's role in the National Health Insurance

- involved in quality and cost control team with other professional organizations
- involved in the discussion of regulations related to national health insurance

IMA's role in the improvement of health care quality

- To set standards of service for doctors in primary care as well as referral services in conjunction with the Ministry of Health
- To set standards for family planning services by doctors, along with family planning agency
- To advocate for national and local governments to improve infrastructure of healthcare services.

Advocacy for the state legislature and political parties for the improvement of policies and health budgets

IMA supports Tobacco Control National Commission to urge the government to immediately ratify the FCTC.

IMA was invited by the country's resilience institution (National Resilience Institution) to discuss various issues related to national health policies.

IMA, Corruption Eradication Commission, and the Ministry of Health work closely together to develop policies aimed to prevent and reduce physician collusions with pharmaceutical companies and medical device companies.

With Commander of the Indonesian National Armed Forces. The purpose of this visit is to discuss the cooperation between IMA and the Indonesian National Armed Forces.

Visit to the Parliament

IMA is involved in planning the law of medical education.

Occasionally, IMA and the Ministry of Health did not agree on a certain draft regulation and, as a result, it had to be discussed all over again.

Indonesian Doctor's Dedication Day

Every year IMA commemorates the Indonesian Doctor's Dedication Day by, among others, providing free medical consultations and services for the public.

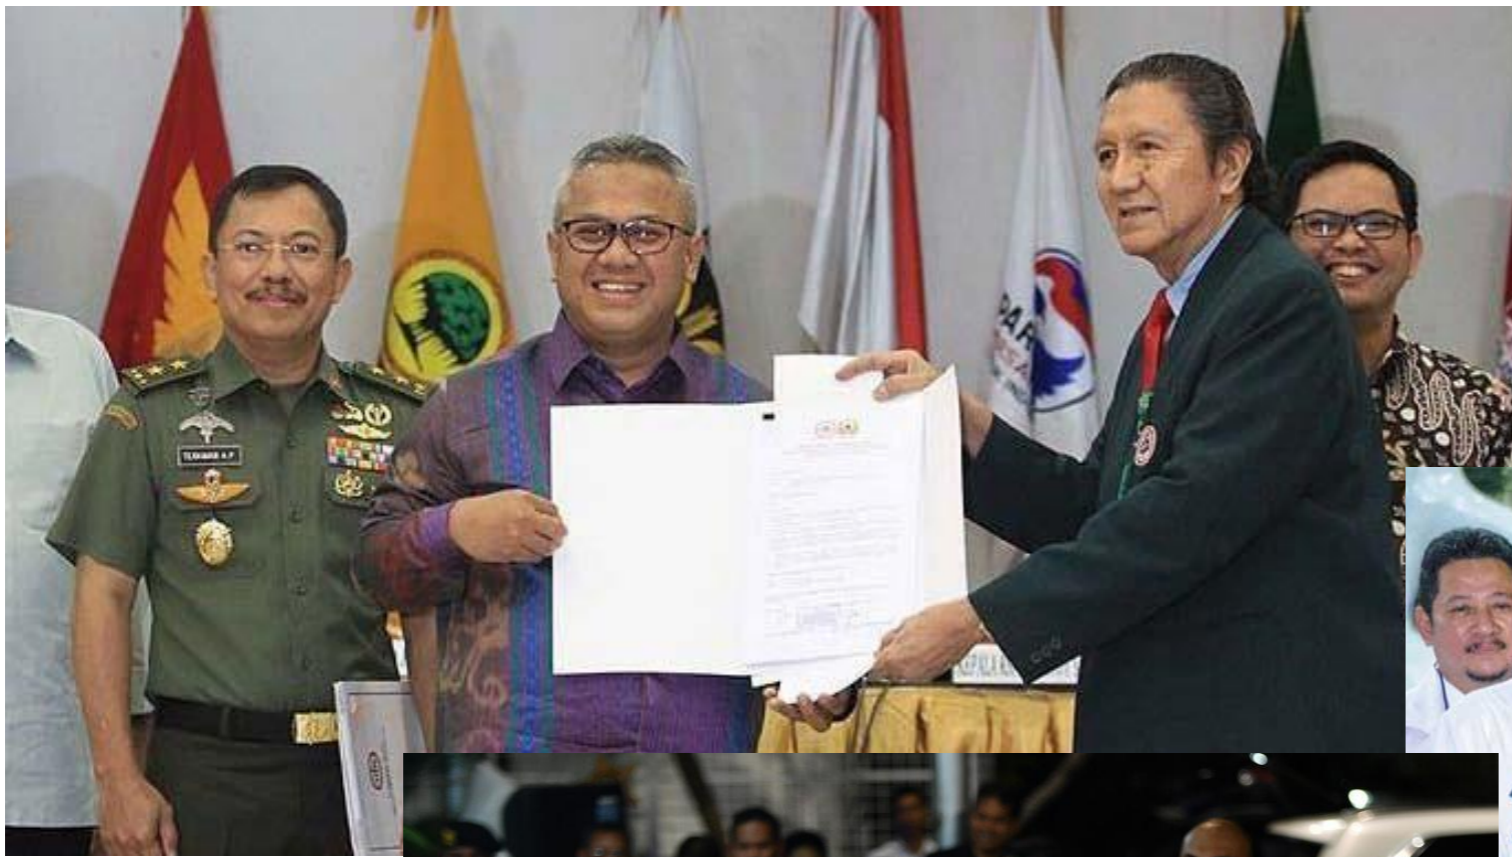

Junior Doctor Awards

Part of the commemoration of the Indonesian Doctor's Dedication Day, there was a "Junior Doctor Grand Final" event. It is basically a health program introduced for primary school students aged 8 – 10 years, focused mostly on how to promote a healthy lifestyle and become health pioneer in their neighborhood.

IMA also collaborates with the Indonesia Witness and Victim Protection Agency.

IMA is mandated by General Election Commission to conduct health checks for the presidential and vice presidential candidates for the 2019 General Election.
